

Katrina's farmaish fulfilled

Looks like a certain Sreeram is not scared of Salman Khan flexing his muscles, remarks Rajni as she sinks into the hammock by my private pool. Who he now, I wonder, and she says that he's a contestant from Indian Idol 5 and professed his pyaar for Katrina Kaif the other day.

She was promoting her forthcoming film, Raajneeti with Arjun Rampal on the reality show and a thrilled Sreeram went down on his knees to sing Pehli nazar mein for her. Overwhelmed, Kat told him that she's his fan and would like him to sign a song from his Telugu movie, Saathiya.

Predictably, the over-excited Sreeram crooned a track in both, Tamil and Telugu. And after Kat praised his performance, he went down on his knees again and declared his undying love for her, recalls Rajni.

Sallu need not worry, for she merely said that the singer was safely into the next round, I'm told. Does it look like I care? But then, such is life dearies.
